

The Sheldon Sculpture Garden

Fallen Dreamer By Tom Otterness

Tom Otterness

Tom Otterness is known for his cast bronze sculptures of whimsical, cartoonish characters that seem innocent at first glance.

He loves watching racecar driving. In fact, he went to the Indianapolis 500!

Tom Otterness
grew up in Topeka, Kansas and now lives
and works in New York

Otterness would create the same piece of sculpture more than once.

In fact Fallen Dreamer is one of 3 casts.

The other sculptures can be found...

Questions About Fallen Dreamer.

How does it look like Fallen Dreamer feels?

Questions About Fallen Dreamer.

What do you think happened to his body?

Questions About Fallen Dreamer.

How do you think his hair would feel?

smooth

rough spongy

Questions About Fallen Dreamer.

How do you think his hair would feel?

rough

Questions About Fallen Dreamer.

Do you think this was the head of a hero or a villain?
Why? What happened?

Here is a fun idea based on Fallen Dreamer

Create a sculpture or drawing of a hero or villain using your imagination.

Tom Otterness used fairy tales as inspiration for some of his sculptures. Choose a fairy tale and create a new piece of art based on that tale.

Create a sculpture or drawing of a single body part, like the Fallen Dreamer, or a single leg, or ear.

